Course objective: This is an online and field-based course. Online lessons are designed to improve your ability to accurately identify common songbird and songbird-like (e.g., woodpeckers) bird species encountered throughout New Hampshire. Optional field trips to various forest, shrubland, field, wetland, and suburban habitats will teach you how to identify any bird species we encounter during each trip. Through a combination of online and field instruction, you will gain a better understanding of the habitats where you can expect to encounter each bird species and the specific things you can do on your land to attract and benefit birds.

Specific learning outcomes

By completing the online lessons and participating in field trips, you will improve your ability to:

- Identify common bird species based on species-specific characteristics of size & shape, plumage color patterns, songs & calls, habitat, behavior, and seasonal geographic range.
- Predict what bird species will occur in different habitats.
- Identify things you can do on your land to attract and benefit a variety of bird species.

Who is this course for?

Anyone interested in improving their ability to identify birds by sight & sound and in learning more about bird ecology and the habitats birds require. This class is appropriate for beginners with little or no previous birding experience and for experienced birders who want to sharpen their birding skills and learn more about bird ecology and habitats. Many students of this course enroll again to continue practicing and improving their birding skills!

Prerequisites for getting the most out of this course:

- Interest in improving your ability to identify birds by sight and sound.
- Commitment to complete weekly online lessons that average from 1 to 2.5 hours each week.
- Commitment to practice identifying birds by sight & sound as often as possible during the course.
- Participating in birding field trips offered as part of this class or by other birding groups, as frequently as your schedule allows.

Required course equipment:

- *Peterson Field Guide to Birds of Eastern and Central North America 7th edition (2020)
- Binoculars*
- Outdoor clothing appropriate for standing and slow walking over terrain indicated for each field trip, water & food necessary to sustain you through the entire length of each trip, insect/tick repellent, and sunscreen as needed.

After registering for the course you will receive a link to the online course folder with the following resources:*

- Some Notes About Field Guides (this will answer questions you might have about whether you need to purchase a new field guide)
- Binocular Ins & Outs With Tips for Purchasing New Binoculars (this provides helpful guidance for how to select binoculars and set them up to work their best)
- An Audio Guide To Identifying New England Birds By Ear. Volume I: The Songbird Songs & Calls You Should Learn First. Matt Tarr, UNH Cooperative Extension 2025.

COURSE FORMAT & EXPECTATIONS

This course includes a combination of online-lessons and optional field trips designed to provide you with the most effective methods for identifying songbirds and songbird-like birds you are likely to encounter in New Hampshire.

ONLINE LESSONS

- Online lessons include a combination of audio and video lessons that will be e-mailed to you at the beginning of each week of the course beginning March 6, 2026.
- There is no specific meeting time for online lessons; you complete these lessons on your own schedule. Weekly lessons require 1 to 2.5 hrs/week and are in parts so you don't need to complete them all in one sitting. To get the most out of the class, I encourage you to complete each lesson by the end of the week it is assigned to not fall behind due to the amount of material covered in the course. Birding field trips will regularly review birds introduced in online lessons.
- A total of 50 bird species will be introduced in online lessons (see the Weekly Online Lesson Schedule below). Each weekly lesson provides detailed instructions for how to identify 2 to 6 new bird species by sight & sound, as well as the habitat needs and basic ecology of each species.
- Weekly online quizzes include a combination of audio recordings, photos, and videos of birds. Quizzes are designed to help you practice your bird ID skills and identify where additional practice will be most helpful.
- Beginning the week it is introduced, you will have continuous access to the material contained in each online lesson until January 1st, 2027.

COURSE FIELD TRIPS

- Field trips are not required, but you are encouraged to participate in as many as you can.
- Field trips will visit a variety of forest, shrubland, field, wetland, and suburban landscapes. All course trips occur in NH unless noted otherwise. This year we are also offering trips in MA, ME, and VT!
- Field trips provide an ideal opportunity to practice your learned skills on real birds in their habitat and with an instructor pointing out specific features to look and listen for. Most students who have taken this course report their ability to identify birds increased the most as a result of participating in the field trips.
- During field trips we will look specifically for the bird species covered in online lessons, but we'll discuss tips for how to identify any birds we encounter. We observed over 120 bird species during course field trips in 2025.
- To help ensure an effective student-to-instructor ratio, field trips are limited to the first 10 to 18 people who register for the trip. Each trip is led by the course trip leader listed for each trip in the trip schedule.
- Each trip has a Trip Rating that is based on the difficulty of the terrain we cover during the trip. Trips are rated 1-4 as follows:
 - (1) Stationary trips occur primarily at a fixed location and involve little or no walking during the trip
 - (2) Smooth-walking trips occur on roadways or smooth, wide trails
 - (3) Uneven-ground or narrow trail trips require walking on uneven surfaces (e.g., exposed rocks or roots, boardwalks, steep trail sections) or on narrow trails where brushing against vegetation can't be avoided
 - (4) Off-trail trips require some walking through forest, shrubland, or field without a trail.

Wheel chair-accessible trips are indicated with a "WC" after the Trip Rating (e.g., "2-WC") and they are highlighted in orange on the trip schedule.

- If you require wheel chair-accessible trips, please contact Matt ASAP prior to Feb 3rd to confirm that specific trips meet your accessibility needs and to register for your trips.
- Any student registered for Online Lessons with Field Trips can sign up for wheel chair-accessible trips if there are spaces available when you register for your trips.
- You must preregister for every trip you would like to attend. Due to limited space and high demand for field trips, trips are only open to course participants who have registered for Online Lessons with Field Trips.
 - You can register for UP TO FOUR trips scheduled for Trip Weeks 1-6
 - You can also register for UP TO FOUR trips scheduled for Trips Weeks 7-12
- Participating in any field trip will expose you to the risk of coming in contact with ticks. If you participate in a trip, please assume that you have picked up ticks and do a thorough tick-check immediately after participating the trip.
- Your course registration fee allows you to participate in course field trips for free – but please see the trip cancellation policy below:

TRIP CANCELLATION POLICY

By registering for course trips you acknowledge that you agree to the following course Trip Cancellation Policy:

- You will be charged a $15 cancellation administration fee for any trip you register for but don't attend. This is the policy regardless of when, or the reason why, you cancel or don't attend a trip you registered for.
 - If you miss a trip and choose to not pay the cancellation fee, you will be removed from all future trips so other students have the chance to participate in the trips you reserved.

Please check your schedule carefully before registering for trips – and please plan to attend every trip you register for.

WEEKLY COURSE FIELD TRIP SCHEDULE

When you register for the class you can register immediately for a total of UP TO FOUR trips scheduled for Trip Weeks 1-6
